DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The applicants' amendment filed 1/19/2006 has been filed considered and made of record.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 5, 9, 11 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Baun (US 4,563,824).

As applied to claim 1, Baun discloses a disc centering device for centering discs which are spaced by spacers, comprising: a base plate (225, Fig. 3); a chuck (190) which is installed on the base plate; a hub unit (197) which is detachably engaged to the chuck and receives the discs (205, 210, 215) to be stacked, disc pushers (120, 147, 170) which are slidably provided outside the hub unit and include corresponding pressure members which push circumferences of the discs and center the discs (200), a driving unit (100) which slides the disc pushers, and biasing units (sensor 127) which are slidably provided outside the hub unit and push circumferences of the spacers.

As applied to claim 5, Baun discloses the disc pushers are provided in a radial direction relative (205, 210, 215) to the hub unit.

As applied to claim 9, Baun discloses each of the pressure members includes a plate spring (175, Fig. 3) which is adapted to simultaneously pressurize the circumferences of the discs having different diameters.

As applied to claim 11, Baun discloses wherein the biasing units are installed in a radial direction (205, Fig. 3) relative to the hub unit.

As applied to claim 16, Baun discloses the biasing units include first (205, Fig 3), second (210) and third biasing (215) units which are provided in a radial direction relative to the spacers, and the first, second and third biasing units simultaneously bias the spacers stacked relative (100, 130, 150) to the hub unit.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 1/19/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In regard to the merits of Baun the applicants contend that: 1) element 205, 210 and 215 were read as discs, and 2) Baun does not teach: "bias units which are slidable provided outside the hub unit and push circumferences of the spacers" (as recited in claim 1, lines 10-11).

The examiner traverses for following the reasons.

The claimed structure is directed to a disc centering device, not discs. For further clarification, element 205, 210 and 215 were read as part of the structure of the hub unit (e.g. 197) that is capable of performing the function of to "receives the discs" to be stacked.

As for the spacer, in Baun Figure 2, shows at least 3 projections (not labeled) that extend from surface 220. These projections can each be read as a “spacer”.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., that spacers maintain a spacing between the two discs.) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Thus, the examiner position that Baun fully satisfies and reads on of the limitations of claim 1.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 2-4, 6-8, 10, 12-15 and 17-22 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

6. Claim 23 is allowed.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

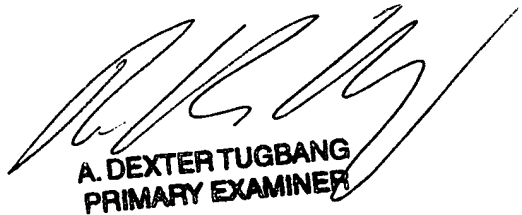

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
